

Educators Checklist for Modeling Respect

Check all that apply to you, then improve your own modeling of respect by working on the statements that you were not able to check.

- I listen to student ideas and suggestions.
- I know all my students' names.
- I do not prejudge students before they enter my class.
- I interact with my peers in a respectful manner.
- I interact with students in a respectful manner.
- I do not talk negatively about students or adults in front of students.
- I appreciate student differences.
- I show students empathy and compassion.
- I reflect on the challenges of being a student.
- I do not allow students to be disrespectful in my classroom.
- I expect students to use respectful language in all of my classes.
- I ensure that no students are left out when choosing teams.
- I monitor my voice and tone when talking with students.
- I treat students as individuals. Students who have older siblings are not compared to their siblings.
- I can honestly say that I have high expectations for all my students.

What do you feel is the best way to show students you respect them? What would your students say about you as a role model of respect?