

My Unique Abilities

Create a narrative, visual display, song, or any other representation of what makes you unique from other students. Think about your strengths, talents, and future goals. Your presentation should not contain information about your appearance. Below are reflective questions to help you think about your abilities. Elaborate upon your “yes” responses.

Do you enjoy sports, physical movement and being active?

Do you have an extensive vocabulary and enjoy words, crossword puzzles, and reading?

Are you musically inclined?

Are you a people person?

Do you enjoy being outdoors?

Are you intrigued by numbers, equations, and complex problems?

Do you have a good sense of pitch, tempo, and rhythm?

Do you make friends easily and enjoy being with lots of people?

Do you enjoy creating? building? sculpting?

Do you seek out challenges?

Are you someone who likes certainty or the unknown?

Are you competitive?

Do you prefer quiet or noise?

Are you an introvert or extrovert?

Are you fascinated by science, experiments, and inventions?

Do you like politics?
